

Go, happy man

John Coprario

Go, hap- py man, like th'eve- ning star, whose beams to bride- grooms
 A way, en- cant- ments, van- ish quite: no more de- lay our wel- come are; may nei- ther hag nor fiend with- stand, the long- ing sight; 'tis fruit- less to con- tend with Fate, who pow'r of thy vic- to- rious hand. Th'un- charm- ed knights gives us pow'r a- gainst your hate. Brave knights in court-sur- ren- der now, by vir- tue of thy rais- ed bough.

5

10

 ly pomp ap- pear, for now are you long look'd for here.

15