For Warner Iversen

Using melodies from Champion's songs

Laudon Schuett

The image displays a musical score for a lute piece. It consists of seven systems of music. Each system includes a rhythmic notation line at the top, a tablature line with letters (r, a, b, e, g) and numbers (5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60) indicating fret positions, and a standard musical staff with a treble clef. The piece is in common time (C). The notation is dense, with many beamed notes and rests. The tablature line is written in a style where letters represent fret positions and numbers represent specific frets. The musical staff shows the corresponding pitch and rhythm of the notes.
