

Fair in a morn

Thomas Morley

Fair in a morn (O fair- est morn: was And on a hill (O fair- est hill: was And as he be- held, this man be- held, he For joy where- of he made such mirth that

5

ev- er morn so fair?), When as the sun, but ne- ver hill so bless- ed), There stood a man, was saw so fair a face, The which would daunt the all the world did ring, And Pan with all his not the same that shin- eth in the air, ne- ver man for no man so dis- tress- ed.

 fair- est here and stain the brav- est grace.
 nymphs came forth to hear the shep- herds sing.

10

But of the earth, no earth- ly sun, and yet no earth- ly This man had hap (O hap- py man); no man so happ'd as Pi- ty, he cried, and Pi- ty came, and pi- tied for his
 But such a song sung ne- ver was, nor ne'er will be a-

