

Reprove not love

Philip Rosseter

5

Re- prove not love, though fond- ly thou hast lost Great- er hopes by lov-
Love and sweet beau- ty makes the stub- born mild And the cow- ard fearing. Love calms am- bi- tious spi- rits, from their breasts Dang- er oft re- mov- ing.

less. The wretch- ed mi- ser's care to boun- ty turns, Cheer- ing all things cheer- less.

Let lof- ty hu- mours mount up on high, Down a- gain like to the wind,
Love chains the earth, and heav'n turns the spheres, Guides the years in end- less peace;

While pri- vate thoughts vow'd to love More peace and plea- sure find.
The flow- 'ry earth through his pow'r Re- ceives her due in- crease.
