

8. Time, cruel time

John Danyel

Time, cru- el Time, canst thou sub- due that brow that
Or art thou grown in league with those fair eyes that 10

con- quers all but thee and thee too stays, as they might aid thee to con- sume our days? Or 15 20

if she were, as if she were ex- empt from scythe or bow, dost thou love, or dost thou love her for her cru- el- ties,

25

from love and years un- sub- ject to de- cay?
be- ing mer- ci- less like thee that no man's weighs?

30

Then do so still al- though she makes no 'steem of
And do so still al- though she no- thing cares. Do

1)

(b)

35 days nor years but lets them run in vain. Hold still thy as I do: love her al- though un- kind. Hold still yet swift- wing'd hours that won- un- d'ring seem, to gaze on her, O, I fear, as, un- a- wares, thou wilt be- guile

2)

40

3)

45

50

ev- en to turn back a- so gain.
her though thou seem'st so kind.

- 1) a in orig.
- 2) a in orig.
- 3) b in orig. clashes with top part.