

20. Now the earth, the skies, the air John Danyel

Canto 2

D lute

Now the earth, the skies, the 10

air, the skies, the air, now the earth, skies, air, and all things fair seems new- borne thoughts t'in-

15

fuse, whilst the re- turn- ing spring joys each thing, the spring

20

that joys each thing, and blast- ed hopes re- news, when on- ly I a- lone, on- ly I a- lone, when I a- lone, left to moan, find no times borne for me.

1)

25

No flow'rs, no mea- dow springs, no flow'rs, no mea- dow springs, no birds sings,

30

but notes of mi- se- ry, of mi- se- ry, no flow'rs, no mea- dow, no mea- dow springs, no bird sings, no

35

bird sings but notes of mi- se- ry, but notes of mi- sery, no bird sings but notes of mi- se- ry.

1) f in orig. clashes with other parts (B vs C).